Zonal appoints new Strategic Product Manager

Hospitality tech innovator, Zonal, has appointed Henri Jooste as strategic product manager focusing on supply chain solutions including stock management.

Located at Zonal's Edinburgh head office, Henri will work with customers to explore their ever-evolving needs when it comes to supply and stock management. Working closely with Zonal's R&D teams, Henri will deliver solutions that meet their needs now and in the future.

Henri has spent over 20 years working at the coalface of hospitality both in South Africa and the UK before paying a pivotal role in the development of hospitality technology products.

He said: "I am delighted to be joining Zonal at such a key time in their journey. With a product set that stands out from the crowd, Zonal provides the ideal opportunity to deliver world class, integrated solutions, which very few of our competitors can offer."

"I couldn't be joining the company at a more exciting time with its 40th anniversary year upon us. I find it quite remarkable that despite its significant growth, Zonal remains a family business at heart, with a culture of passion and dedication to its customers and staff that I have never experienced before."

Zonal's chief executive Stuart McLean added: "We are thrilled to welcome someone of Henri's calibre into the Zonal family. Zonal prides itself on constantly evolving and we continuously assess our products and processes in order to deliver a dedicated and bespoke service for our customers."

Zonal employs over 650 people nationwide who deliver integrated hospitality management solutions to over 16,000 leisure and hospitality businesses across the UK. For 40 years, the company has been working closely with clients to enhance the customer experience through market leading technology, experienced people and a partnership approach to business.
